Press Release

KWC EVE - The innovative fusion of light and water

The KWC EVE in its premium stainless steel design is a statement of pure aesthetics and timeless materials.

A visual eyecatcher

This design- and function-orientated faucet has the perfect shape and timeless aesthetics, perfect for use in stylish, clean kitchen environments in which users want both a functional and visual eyecatcher. And this is exactly what is achieved by its overall appearance and choice of materials.

The KWC EVE is available in a high-quality chrome-plated design, with pure white or deep black PVD surface, or in pure stainless steel.

LED light sculpture

The KWC EVE was one of the first faucets to focus on light as a function. The seamlessly integrated pull-out aerator features LED technology that enables the light function to be activated intuitively using the light button on the spout – and it switches off automatically after 45 minutes. The LEDs are characterised by a bright luminance, an extremely low current consumption and a long service life.

Functionality

When it comes to functionality, the KWC EVE impresses with its high spout, a large swivel range of 270° and the additional function of sink illumination. The pull-out aerator can be extended up to 60 cm with a single handle and it returns just as easily to its starting position. The faucet is operated from the side. The elegant, user-friendly lever guarantees optimum ease of use.

Awards

The KWC EVE was presented to the public for the first time in 2005 and was immediately awarded the „Red Dot Design Award 2005“. On its market launch in 2006, it was nominated for the German Design Award and received the renowned „IF Product Design Award 2006“.

In deep black and pure white, the KWC EVE again demonstrates its structural perfection and the design potential it has to offer modern kitchen architecture.
